Packaging that protects your product and the environment

The experts at Green Packaging have solved corrosion problems for some of the largest firearms manufacturers in the country. We specialize in solving complex corrosion problems.

We will consult with you to develop a powerful, specific corrosion inhibiting system for your unique application.

Unlike some VCI, all of our VCI products are nitrite-free and heavy metal-free which means they are a more environmentally friendly alternative.

Our proprietary VCI formulation is extremely effective on firearms. Whether you are manufacturing hand guns, rifles or automatic weapons, we have the VCI that will offer your parts premium protection from rust and corrosion.

We offer state-of-the-art accelerated corrosion testing in our lab at no charge.

Call today for your free corrosion consultation, samples, or a price quotation on all of your VCI packaging requirements.
